

March 1, 1842

pr[esented] 10/3 [18]42
W.

To the missionaries
of the Society in Australia, for the attention of
Mr. Teichelmann
in Adelaide.

Dear brothers, beloved by the Lord.

Since our last letters, we haven't received any news from you that we could take into account. Nevertheless, we want to write to you, as we can share with you several things that are important to you.

We were pleased to learn from the letters from Messrs. G. F. Angas & Co. in London that, in addition to the 100 Liver Sterling you withdrew from Mr. Angas's account after the previous arrangement, you also received 200 Liver from his company last year. Although you did not receive as much money as you would have expected if each of you were to receive 100 Liver and Sister Meyer 50 Liver, as we had assumed, we are nevertheless delighted that you have received two 300 Liver and are also willing to repay what you have been paid or borrowed from you, in accordance with the instruction we gave earlier that it should be paid to Messrs. G. F. Angas & Co. in London on our behalf, which you would need considering our current financial situation.

A large conference was held here on the 16th and 17th of May, attended by delegates or letters from foreign clubs, at which the following decisions regarding the marriages of our missionaries were made. (For more details, see the letter to Cordes.)

After having shared this important news with you, we have nothing else to do but commend you to the Lord's blessing and assure you of our sincere love, with which we remain in spirit.

Dresden, March 1, 1842

The Committee of the Evangelical-Lutheran Mission Society.
K v. Wirsing